SECTION 5. MODERATING USER INPUT

Social media users are most engaged on sites that provide and encourage the exchange of information. These sites often provide users the ability to voice their opinions and reactions to posted information. This may result in comments or feedback from users that concern department Moderators or other staff. A department should not use this type of media if it is uncomfortable with the idea of users posting negative or unsavory comments about itself, its leaders, or programs. In other words, if the department is uncomfortable with the level of exchange on a particular site, the site may not be appropriate for that department. Therefore, all sites, unless there is a specific legitimate need for comment and feedback, shall be for informational purposes only. Should there be a specific legitimate need for comment and feedback, cause must be shown to and written approval given by the City Manager.

To keep track of incoming feedback and customer contributed content, department and division Moderators should check their social media sites at least once a day. If a City social media site is created under guidelines or policies that limit the site to a particular topic (as opposed to general or all-purpose department communications), off-topic comments or contents may be deleted under the guidance of City legal counsel. Otherwise, Moderators may not delete or modify comments that are posted or otherwise sent or shared by outside parties on their social media sites.

SECTION 6. PRIVACY

As City social media sites grow in popularity and usage, issues of privacy become paramount. Departments (particularly those that handle sensitive or protected information) need to be mindful of citizens' privacy and identities.

Departments posting material featuring identifiable private individuals and children must get written permission from the children's parent or guardian before publication. Releases or permissions should be in writing or by an email authorization from the source confirming that the City's use is acceptable.
